

Crucial decision

First off Stryke rocked it! It was a small intimate venue called love hate and it had a nice vibe. We made it to the la Sandwicherie and had an insane sub on that wonderful french bread. Today we got up had a smoothie and have mosied on down to Lincoln road and are waiting in line for the get physical rooftop party and its been about at least an hour so we've been groovin around Lincoln so we hope will make it in in a bit if not we might head on down to the Chelsea for some free techno. Decisions decisions.