

Yesterdays and Factories

Chris Fogg and friends are doing a super nice weekly up at Yesterdays called Pro Bono and this Sunday they're doing classic house. Himself, myself, Dr. Strangelove, Eowyn, Matt Caulder and others will be up there from 6-1. I hear there's also gonna be some smoked venison early to get your Sunday cookout fix on. Chicago WILL reprazent and the true history of house shall testify once again. Meanwhile, you can catch Chris's page on Facebook. Search for Yesterdays House.

Unless you're partying with your little brother at TSI tonight, check the whole King St. corridor like you said you've been meaning to do. Stop by Factory at Walkers on the corner of King and Post. Its EBM galore. Plus, I'll have copies of my new-beat-dark-wave-synth-pop-techno-electro mix CD. I 86'd the promos & made some ones with covers. And they're black by popular demand.